

Hello, my name is Benjamin Meimoun and I am currently a 2nd year student at the Leonardo da Vinci management school, with a bachelor's degree in economics. I study the understanding of operation and business management in its international environment.

I am an organized and carry out, rigorous, fast student, precise and on time work. I am able to adapt to any team and work pace. It is quite naturally that I want to go for an internship in marketing with facilities for this field. I enjoy working in a dynamic environment where there are new challenges to overcome every day. Being able to acquire new skills, adapt from project to project when the company grows is a fundamental principle for me. I want to be part of a group that has values and a work philosophy that suits me.

I acquired a certain experience in teamwork with especially the participation in several associations. First of all, I belong to three student associations, proof of my commitment within a group. First, there is the business association at my school, Devinci Partners, where I am part of the communication department, as well as that of eloquence, La Joute De Vinci, where I am also part of the communication department. I'm also part of another outside organization focused on events, Alliance La Défense, where I'm part of the office, with all the decisions and choices to be made.

I was also part of a homework help association for needy and sick children, Séphora Berrebi. This experience particularly touched my relationship with others and made me gain in maturity. In the same field, I made a humanitarian trip with friends to Chile three years ago renovating dilapidated buildings and caring for children in need. Being an animator in summer camps and leisure centers, I am quite flexible and know how to evolve and change my behavior as well as my habits according to the team with which I am.

My taste for curiosity and discovery is quite high with the ability to learn new techniques and technologies. During this year, I perfected myself with the applications of the Office pack as well as software such as Canva, for example, which I use quite regularly to make oral presentations. I have also already coded in HTML and CSS, so an important point regarding SEO.

I am quite present on social networks (with more than two thousand subscribers on Instagram). These have, today, an important part in the life of a company in order to gain visibility. Marketing and communication are at the heart of it and I would like, thanks to this internship, to be part of this interesting sector.
